

Document 1505

[21505001]

[21505002]

[21505003]

[21505004]

[21505005]

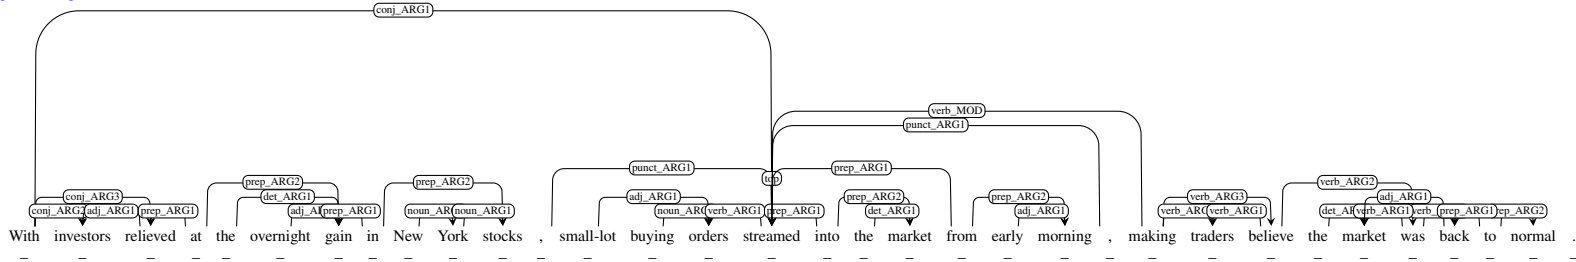

[21505006]

[21505007]

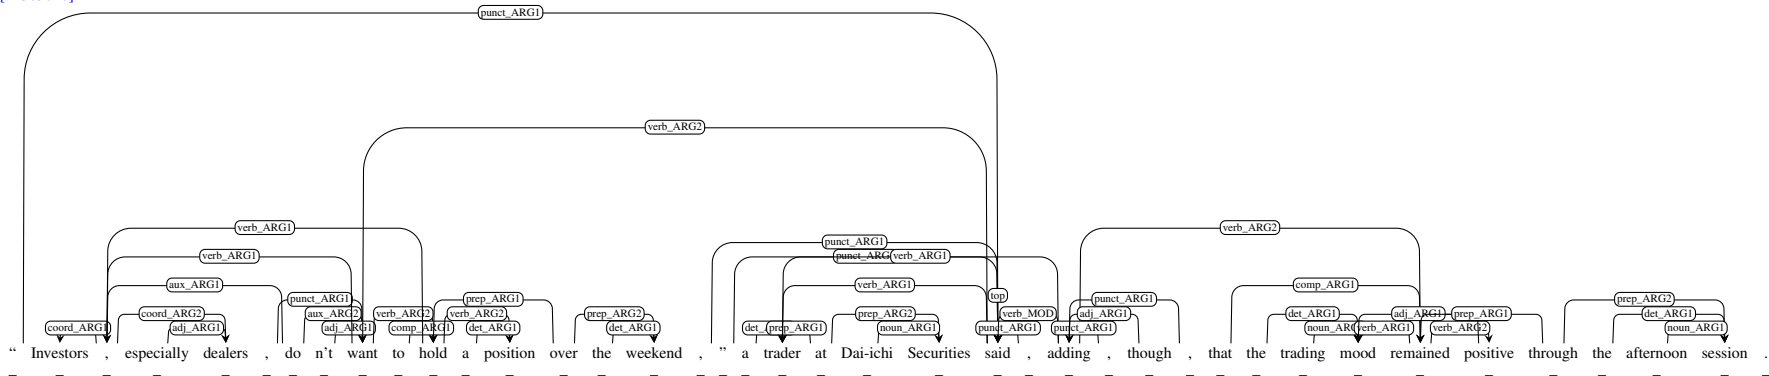

[21505008]

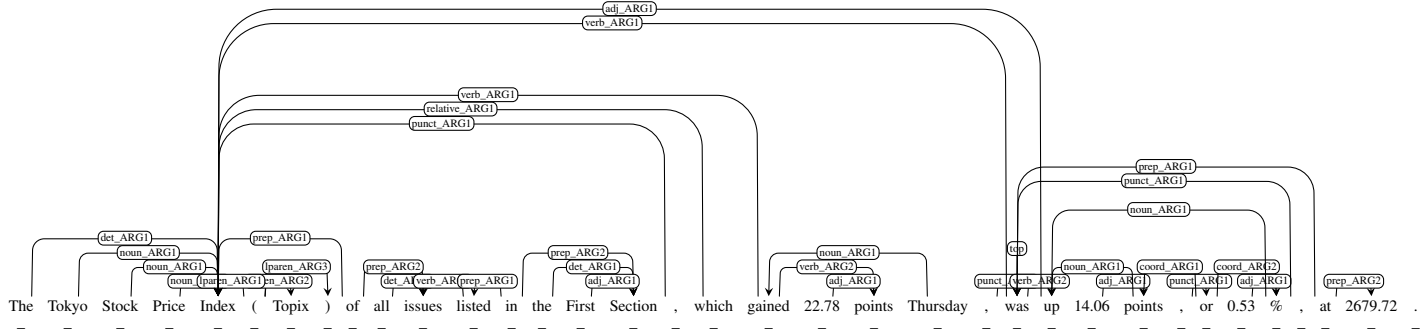

[21505009]

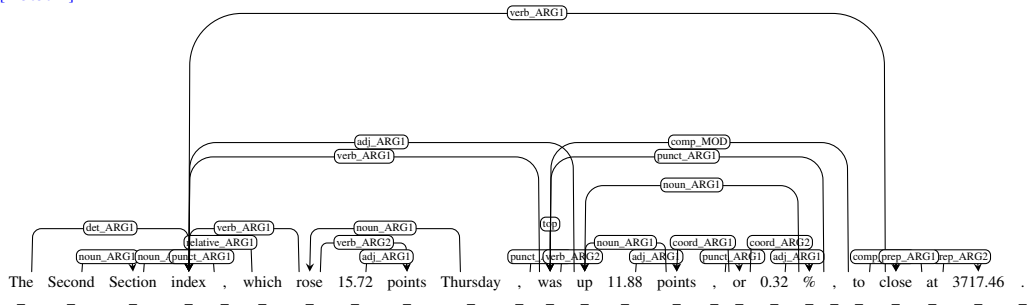

[21505010]

[21505011]

[21505012]

[21505013]

Volume in the second section was estimated at 30 million shares , up from 28 million Thursday .

[21505015]

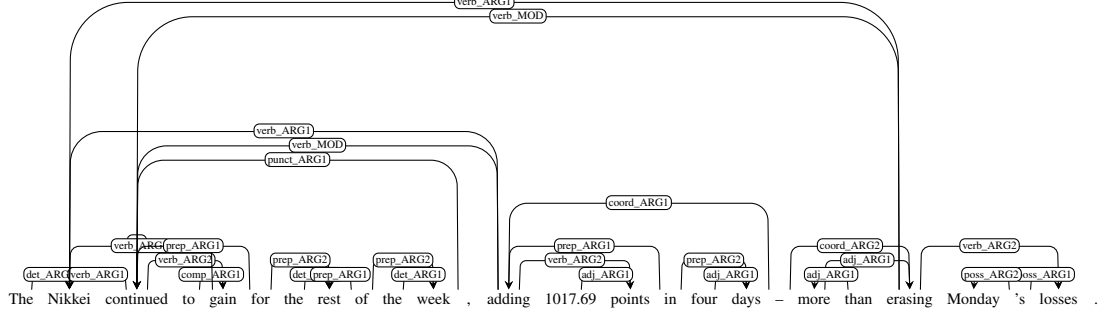

But the Nikket fell an overall 1.8 % in value that day compared with Wall Street 's far sharper 6.9 % drop on Oct. 13 .

[21505016]

The Tokyo market 's resiliency helped participants to gain confidence gradually as they spent more time on analyzing factors that caused the Friday plunge and realized these problems were unique to New York stocks and not directly related to Tokyo .

[21505017]

The Nikkei continued to gain for the rest of the week , adding 1017.69 points in four days - more than erasing Monday 's losses .

[21505018]

But further major advances on the Nikkei are n't foreseen this week by market observers .

[21505019]

Investors are still waiting to see how the U.S. government will decide on interest rates and how the dollar will be stabilized .

[21505020]

Some high-priced issues made a comeback Friday .

[21505021]

Pioneer surged 450 yen ($ 3.16) to 6,050 yen ($ 42.60) .

[21505022]

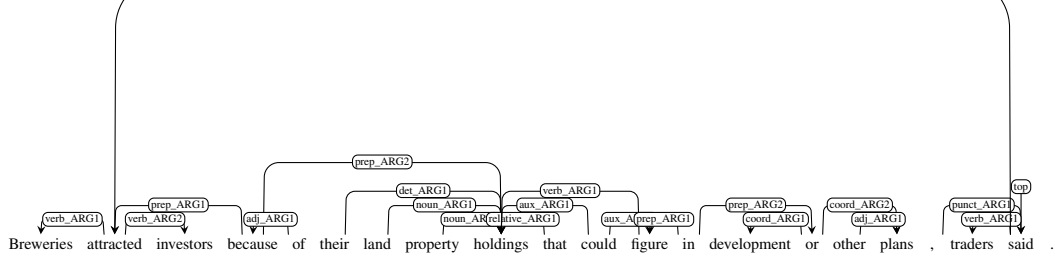

Kyocera advanced 80 yen to 5,440 .

[21505023]

Fumac gained 100 to 7,580 .

[21505024]

Breweries attracted investors because of their land property holdings that could figure in development or other plans , traders said .

[21505025]

Sapporo gained 80 to 1,920 and Kirin added 60 to 2,070 .

[21505026]

Housings , constructions and pharmaceuticals continued to be bought following Thursday 's gains because of strong earnings outlooks .

[21505027]

Daiwa House gained 50 to 2,660 .

[21505028]

Misawa Homes was up 20 at 2,960 .

[21505029]

Kajima advanced 40 to 2,120 and Ohbayashi added 50 to 1,730 .

[21505030]

Fujisawa added 80 to 2,010 and Mochida advanced 230 to 4,400 .

[21505031]

London share prices were influenced largely by declines on Wall Street and weakness in the British pound .

[21505033]

The index finished 2.4 % under its close of 2233.9 the previous Friday , although it recouped some of the sharp losses staged early last week on the back of Wall Street 's fall .

[21505034]

London was weak throughout Friday 's trading , however , on what dealers attributed to generally thin interest ahead of the weekend and this week 's potentially important U.K. trade figures for September .

[21505035]

The FT-SE 100 largely remained within an 11-point range established within the first hour of trading before it eased to an intraday low late in the session when a flurry of program selling pushed Wall Street lower .

[21505036]

The FT 30-share index closed 11.0 points lower at 1761.0 .

[21505037]

Volume was extremely thin at 351.3 million shares , the lightest volume of the week and modestly under Thursday 's 387.4 million shares .

[21505038]

Dealers said the day 's action was featureless outside some response to sterling 's early weakness against the mark , and fears that Wall Street might open lower after its strong leap forward Thursday .

[21505039]

They added that market-makers were largely sidelined after aggressively supporting the market Thursday in their quest to cover internal shortages of FT-SE 100 shares .

[21505040]

Interest may remain limited into tomorrow 's U.K. trade figures , which the market will be watching closely to see if there is any improvement after disappointing numbers in the previous two months .

[21505041]

The key corporate news of the day was that British Airways decided to withdraw from a management-led bid for UAL Corp. , the parent of United Airlines .

[21505042]

British Airways rose initially after announcing its withdrawal from the UAL deal .

[21505043]

Dealers said they viewed the initial $ 390-million ($ 622 million) outlay for a 15 % stake in the airline as a bit much .

[21505044]

[21505045]

[21505046]

[21505047]

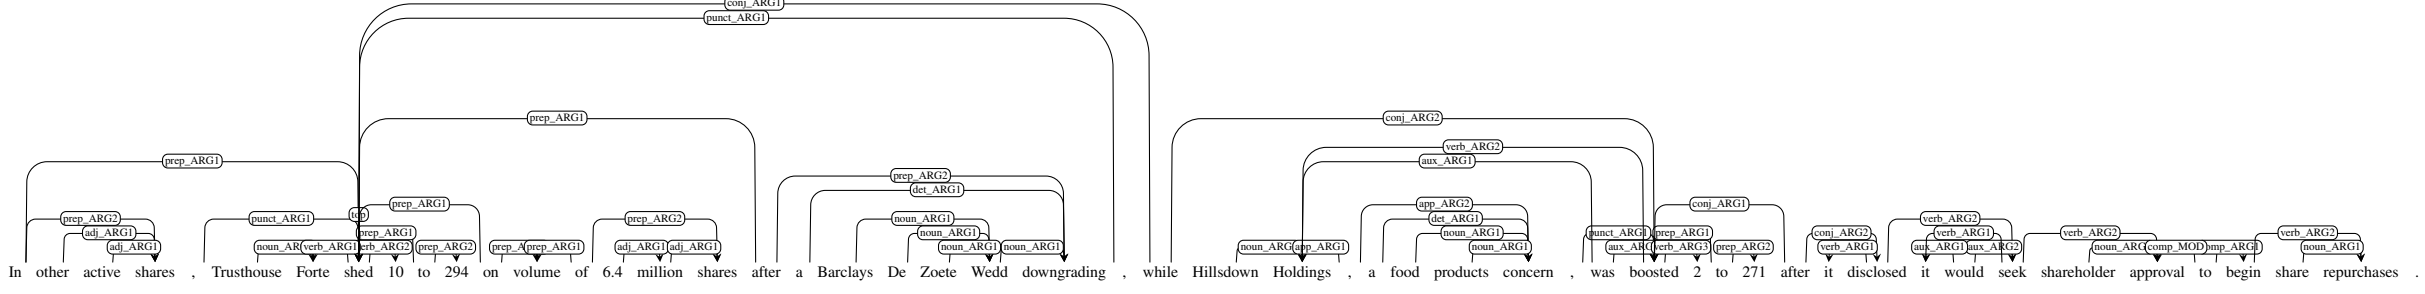

[21505048]

[21505049]

[21505051]

[21505052]

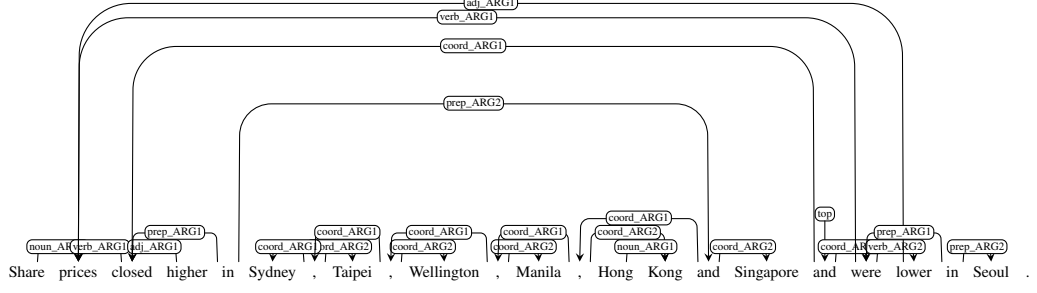

[21505053]

[21505054]

[21505055]

[21505056]

[21505057]

[21505058]

