Big personal computer makers and many makers of engineering workstations are developing 486-based machines , which are expected to reach the market early next year .

[20781046]

Of the big computer makers , only Apple Computer Co. bases its machines on Motorola chips instead .

[20781047]

" The 486 is going to have a big impact on the industry , " said Hewlett-Packard 's Mr. Archuleta .

[20781048]

" It 's going to be the leading edge technology in personal computers for the next few years .
