Figure 1 displays two parse trees for the sentence: "Subsequent meetings initiated after the company and two of its units were briefly suspended from federal contracts, were held to familiarize Mr. Orr with the company's self-policing procedures and to disclose additional information, according to GE." The left tree shows the full structure with nodes like SUBJ, PRED, and OBJ. The right tree shows the same sentence with nodes like SUBJ, PRED, and OBJ, but with some nodes highlighted in red to indicate the extracted sentence.

Figure 10 illustrates the parse tree for the sentence "The filing contends that the billing practices at the heart of the current controversy involved w-17561 technical disputes rather than criminal activity." The root node is S, which branches into NP (The) and VP (filing contends that the billing practices at the heart of the current controversy involved w-17561 technical disputes rather than criminal activity). The VP node further branches into V (filing) and CP (contends that the billing practices at the heart of the current controversy involved w-17561 technical disputes rather than criminal activity). The CP node branches into C (contends) and NP (that the billing practices at the heart of the current controversy involved w-17561 technical disputes rather than criminal activity). The NP node branches into NP (that) and VP (the billing practices at the heart of the current controversy involved w-17561 technical disputes rather than criminal activity).
