Figure 1: The parse trees for the two sentences. The left parse tree is for the sentence "For a funny thing happened on the way to the ruling : The United States Information Agency , which runs the Voice , changed its position on three key points .". The right parse tree is for the sentence "The United States Information Agency , which runs the Voice , changed its position on three key points .". The parse trees show the hierarchical structure of the sentences, with nodes representing grammatical functions and their corresponding words or phrases. The left tree is for the sentence "For a funny thing happened on the way to the ruling : The United States Information Agency , which runs the Voice , changed its position on three key points .". The right tree is for the sentence "The United States Information Agency , which runs the Voice , changed its position on three key points .".

The USA said that, on reflection, of course I could print anything I could get my hands on.

The word dissemination, it decided, referred only to itself.

“ The USIA publicly and officially stated in the litigation that all persons are allowed access to the materials , notwithstanding the statutory designations , because the USIA has determined it will not check the credentials of any person appearing and requesting to see the materials . ” Mr. McCormick noted

Figure 10: A parse tree for the sentence "And the USIA said ev-w2833f that all of us could take ev-w3310f43_u_nobody extensive notes". The tree shows the hierarchical structure of the sentence, with nodes labeled with syntactic categories like PREK, TOP, ACT-arg, DIR1, ACT-arg, PAT-arg, and RSTR. The sentence is segmented into words and tokens, with some tokens being part of a larger entity (ev-w3310f43_u_nobody).

But the court disagreed .

“ The First Amendment proscribes ev-w2418f1 the government from passing ev-w2206f4 laws abridging ev-w11f1 the right to free speech . ” Judge Donald O'Brien ruled ev-w2801f1

Figure 1: A parse tree for the sentence “The First Amendment does not prescribe a duty upon the government to assure easy access to information for members of the press.” The tree shows the hierarchical structure of the sentence, with the root node S branching into NP (The First Amendment) and VP (does not prescribe a duty upon the government to assure easy access to information for members of the press). The VP branches into V (does not prescribe) and NP (a duty upon the government to assure easy access to information for members of the press). The NP branches into the article a, the noun duty, and the PP (upon the government to assure easy access to information for members of the press). The PP branches into the preposition upon and the NP (the government to assure easy access to information for members of the press). The NP branches into the article the, the noun government, and the VP (to assure easy access to information for members of the press). The VP branches into the infinitive marker to and the VP (assure easy access to information for members of the press). The VP branches into the verb assure and the NP (easy access to information for members of the press). The NP branches into the adjective easy, the noun access, and the PP (to information for members of the press). The PP branches into the preposition to and the NP (information for members of the press). The NP branches into the noun information and the PP (for members of the press). The PP branches into the preposition for and the NP (members of the press). The NP branches into the noun members and the PP (of the press). The PP branches into the preposition of and the NP (the press). The NP branches into the article the and the noun press.

So now the situation is this :
