

[illegible]

The system ev-w218f2 is the first to be sold through the joint marketing agreement between Cray and Control Data Corp.

The diagram illustrates a complex dependency network. It is divided into two main parts. The left part shows dependencies for the phrase "The supercomputer, which ev-w18771", involving entities like "PACAP", "MESC", "PACAP", "OFF", "ESTD", and "18.5 million". The right part shows dependencies for the phrase "will be installed in the first quarter of 1990 in the meteorological office's headquarters in Bracknell, England", involving entities like "SP", "TWIN", "ESTD", "APP", "LOC", and "PAR". Arrows indicate the flow of dependencies between these entities.