[41105111]

The bartender winked back at him and palmed the bill .

[41105112]

He turned away and returned in a moment with a pint of brandy in a small paper sack which he slid over the counter to Shayne .

[41105114]

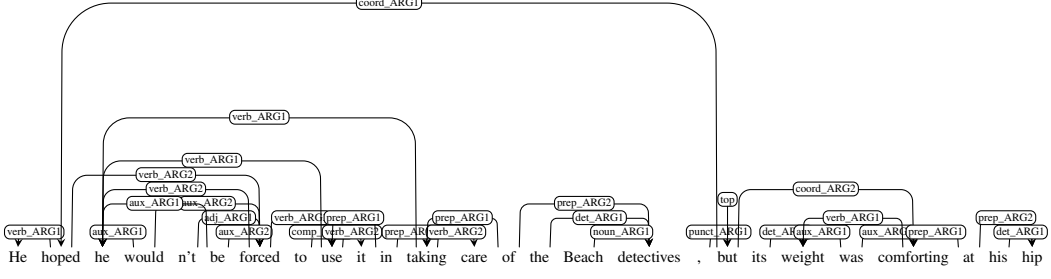

" Make a couple of punk detectives named Geely and Harris wish to God they'd stayed out of my way this afternoon .

[41105116]

Shayne strode out blithely, and Rourke checked his watch and sipped his drink, getting a dime ready to make the telephone call to the police .

[41105119]

He hoped he would n't be forced to use it in taking care of the Beach detectives, but its weight was comforting at his hip .

[41105120]

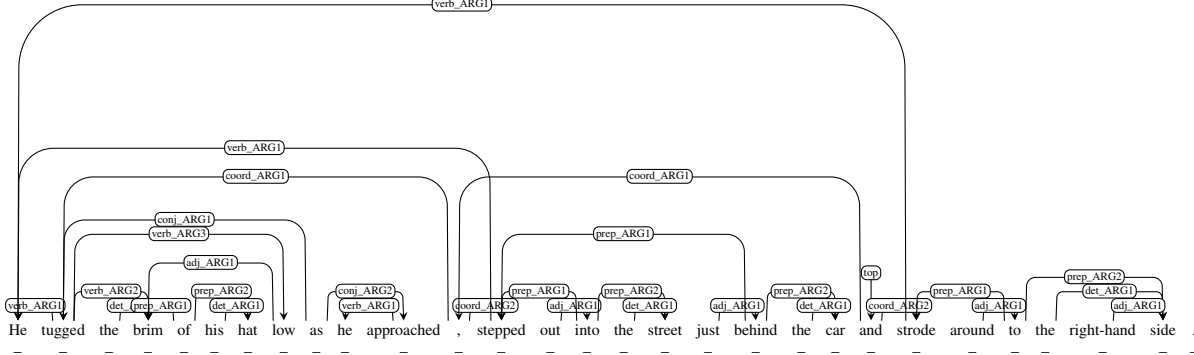

On this side of the Bay, Miami Beach cops had no more legal rights than any ordinary citizen, and Shayne's pistol permit was just as good as theirs .

[41105121]

He went swiftly up the sidewalk toward the parked car with the two Beach detectives in the front seat .

[41105122]

He tugged the brim of his hat low as he approached, stepped out into the street just behind the car and strode around to the right-hand side .

[41105123]

The big, paunchy man named Geely was on that side, half-turned in the seat toward his hatchet-faced companion so that his back partially rested against the closed door .

[41105124]

Shayne turned the handle and jerked the door open before either of the men were quite aware of his presence in the night .

[41105125]

Geely grunted and slid partly out, and Shayne's left arm snaked in around his neck to help him, while he set himself solidly on the roadway and swung his right fist to the big, gun-chewing jaw before Geely could straighten up .

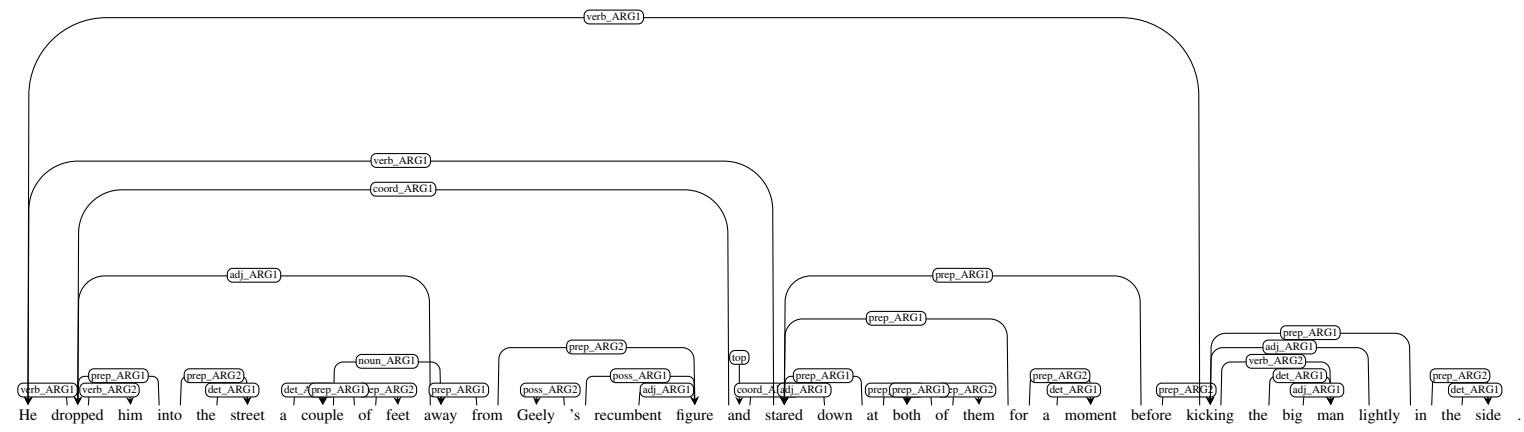

[41105127]

Shayne locked his big hands around Harris' thin neck and dragged him out over the seat into the roadway .
