Administration officials defend Mr. Bush 's decision to make the trip .

While they acknowledge the president will attend several meals and a working session also attended by Mr. Ortega , they insist that Mr. Bush won't be extending the Nicaraguan leader any special courtesies .

Officials also insist Mr. Bush will use the trip to highlight his own initiatives for pushing democracy in the region, fighting illegal drugs and assisting the less developed countries.

Figure 1 illustrates the structure of a sentence and its corresponding parse tree. The sentence is: "Let me say there is a symbolic component to this trip." The parse tree shows the hierarchical structure of the sentence, with nodes labeled with grammatical functions (e.g., "verb ARG1", "noun ARG1") and their corresponding words or phrases. The tree structure is as follows:

- The root node is "verb ARG1" (Let).
- It branches into "verb ARG1" (say) and "verb ARG1" (is).
- "say" branches into "verb ARG1" (Let) and "verb ARG1" (me).
- "is" branches into "verb ARG1" (there) and "verb ARG1" (is).
- "there" branches into "verb ARG1" (is) and "verb ARG1" (a).
- "is" branches into "verb ARG1" (symbolic) and "verb ARG1" (component).
- "component" branches into "verb ARG1" (to) and "verb ARG1" (this).
- "this" branches into "verb ARG1" (trip).

" There wo n't be any formal resolutions or communiques , I do n't think .

But we still see this as an opportunity to discuss many, many very important issues.
