

Document 1357

[21357003]

United Education & Software, a Los Angeles education services company, called the commission's action "precipitous and unwarranted."

[21357004]

The court set a hearing on the emergency action for Oct. 30.

[21357005]

United Education & Software posted a $250,000 bond against potential losses to the student aid commission and to taxpayers in guaranteeing any more loans for National Technical Schools students prior to the hearing.