

Document 1601

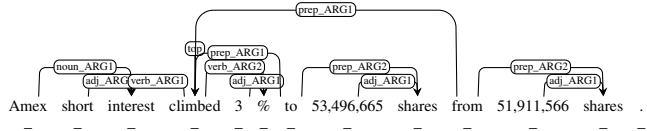

[21601001]

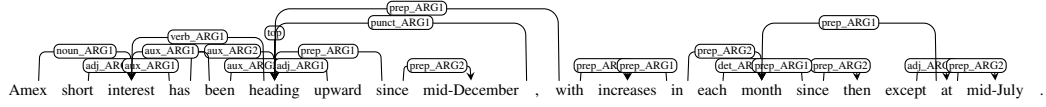

[21601002]

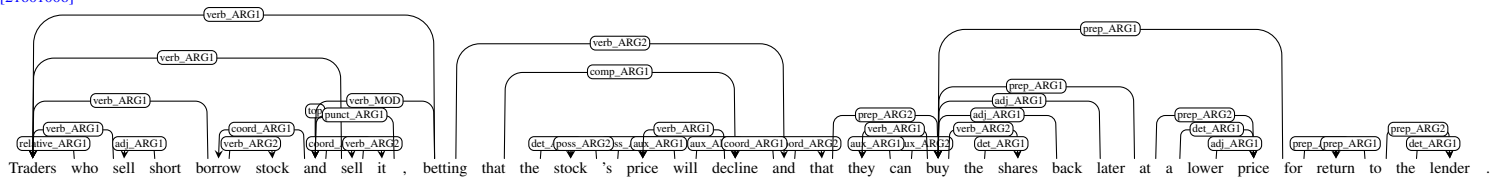

[21601003]

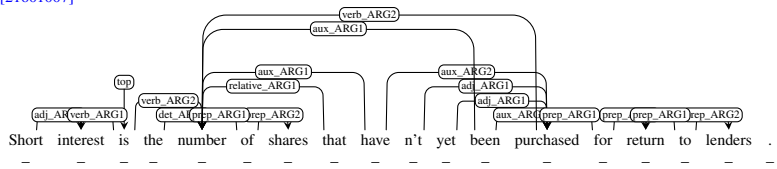

[21601005]

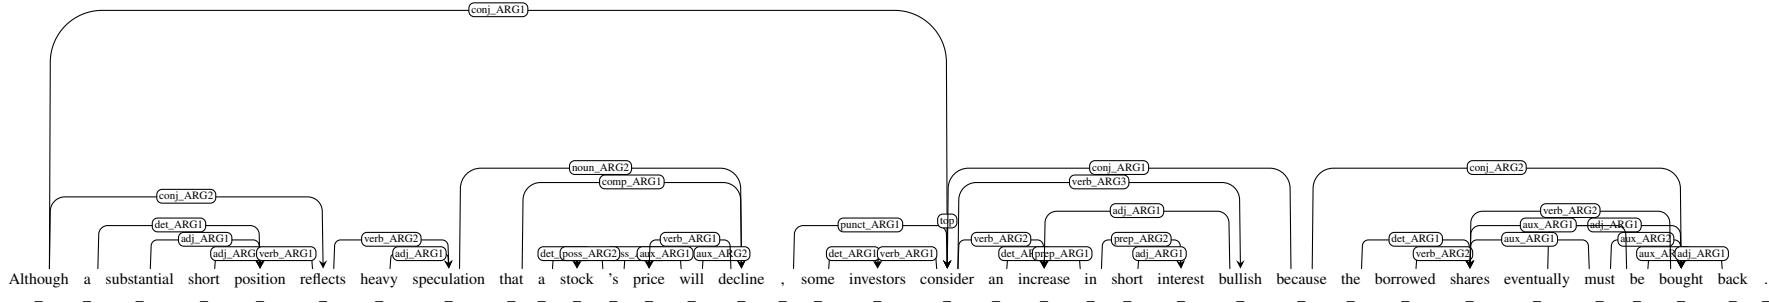

[21601006]

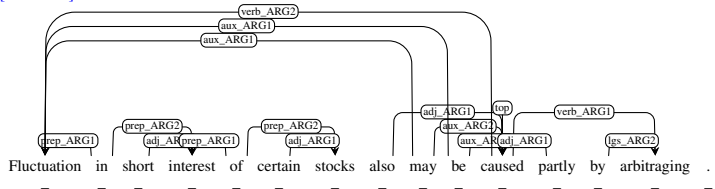

[21601007]

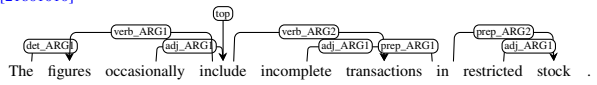

[21601008]

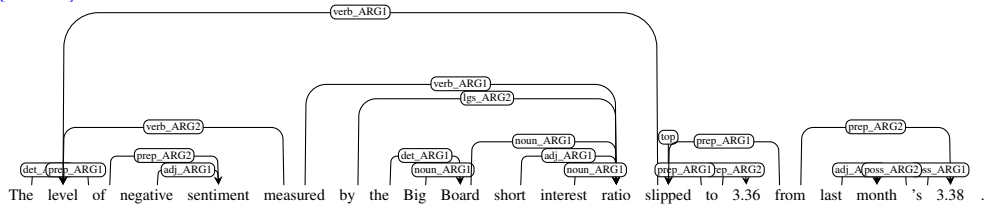

[21601009]

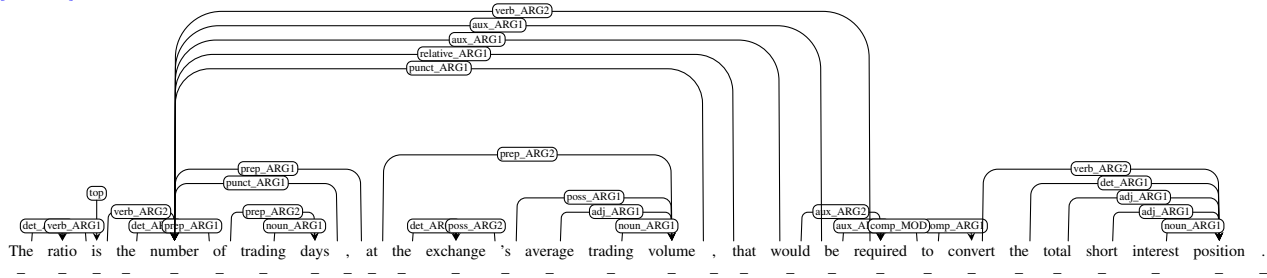

[21601010]

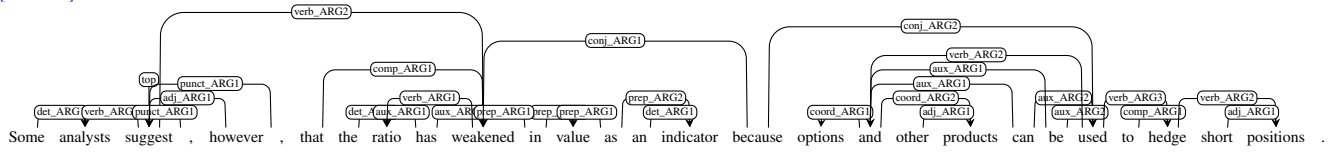

[21601011]

[21601012]

[21601013]

[21601015]

Varity has proposed to acquire K-H Corp. , consisting of the auto parts division and some debt of Fruehauf Corp. , for $ 577.3 million of cash and securities .

[21601016]

Chemical Waste Management posted the biggest increase in short volume on the New York exchange . up 3,383,477 shares to 5,267,238 .

[21601017]

Bristol-Myers Squibb Co. , the entity formed from the recent acquisition of Squibb Corp. by Bristol-Myers Co. , logged the largest volume decline . 7,592,988 shares , to 12,017,724 .

[21601018]

Short interest in International Business Machines Corp. plunged to 1,425,035 shares from 2,387,226 shares a month earlier .

[21601019]

Also closely watched is Exxon Corp. , where short interest shd to 4,469,167 shares from 5,088,774 .

[21601020]

On a percentage basis . Germany Fund Inc. led the gainers , leaping to 67,972 shares from three shares .

[21601021]

TransCanada Pipelines Ltd. led the percentage decliners , dropping to 59 shares from 183,467 .

[21601022]

The Amex short interest volume leader again was Texas Air Corp. , rising to 3,820,634 shares from 3,363,949 .

[21601023]

Bolar Pharmaceutical Co. posted the largest volume increase . 552,302 shares , to 2,157,656 .

[21601024]

The company is under an investigation concerning procedures to gain Food and Drug Administration approval of generic drugs .

[21601025]

Bolar has denied any wrongdoing .

[21601026]

The largest volume drop - down 445,645 shares to 141,903 - came in shares represented by B.A.T Industries PLC 's American depositary receipts .

[21601027]

The company is facing a takeover proposal from the financier Sir James Goldsmith .

[21601028]

First Iberian Fund led the percentage increases , rising to 73,100 shares from 184 .

[21601029]

Nelson Holdings International Ltd. dropped the most on a percentage basis , to 1,000 shares from 255,923 .

[21601030]

