Document 2047

```
(APPS.member) top
 The nations of southern Africa know a lot about managing elephants; their herds are thriving ev-w1810f1 _ - - ev-w1930f2 _ - ev-w3368f1 _
                             ACT-arg
But the nations of Europe and North America have decided they know better ev-w823f1 ev-w1810f1 - erence in Lausanne , they imposed a global ivory ban that seeks to overturn local policies .
                U.N. conf
[22047004]
                                            (ACT-arg) (ACT-arg)
[22047005]
                                              ACT-arg
 Legitimate ranchers , who have an interest in preserving the herds , would go out of business .
     (ACT-arg)
 Poachers would control the underground trade .
In fact , they seemed a mite resentful .
 The director of Zimbabwe 's Wildlife Department described ev-w894f1

The director of Zimbabwe 's Wildlife Department described ev-w894f1

The director of Zimbabwe 's Wildlife Department described ev-w894f1

The director of Zimbabwe 's Wildlife Department described ev-w894f1

The director of Zimbabwe 's Wildlife Department described ev-w894f1
```

