Document 1052

```
MAT)
                                                                                                             when that TW Services , a group of restaurant chains , became the latest prospective issuer to ev-w225f1
     Coniston Partners , which with related entities controls 80 % of TW , had been planning to sell ev-w2898f1 ev-w28986f2 ev-w2898f1 ev-w2898f1 ev-w2898f1 ev-w2898f1 ev-w28986f2 ev-w28986f1 ev-w28986f2 ev-w28986f
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       ACT-arg)
                                                                                                                                                                            CONJ.member NJ.member TWHEN

CONJ.member NJ.member TWHEN

Donaldson , Lufkin & Jenrette , just completed ev-w620f1
                                                                                             Coniston and its investment banker , D
                            ors , at least for now , took a pass
                 S junk bonds were n't , as junk bonds go , ev-w218f2 _ _ _ ev-w1484f40_u_nobody _
                                                                                              TW , based in Paramus , N.J. , would have _ _ _ ev-w211f1 _ _ _ _ _ e
                                                                                                                                                                                                                        PAT-arg
                                                                                                                                            [21052016]
                                     ACT-arg
                                                                                                                                                            PAT-arg
  The rub , he says , is that "the junk market is n't as deep "as before .
  TW 's stockholder meeting was postponed ev-w2343f1 from tomorrow to Nov. 21
 By then , DLJ hopes to be able to sell less-junky junk bonds .
                                                      ACT-arg
                                                  ACT-arg
 Gollust , Tierney & Oliver is likely to contribute more than the $ 120 million in equity it had planned on ev-w2292f1
```

