Document 0488

```
on the stock market for lack of anything else to
" Attention is fixed
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               " said Robert White , a vice president at First Interstate of California ev-w2833f1 rews to push the U.S. unit sharply higher or lower , the currency is likely to drift below 1.80 marks this week .
                                                       that in the absence of market-moving news to
  But others reject the view , and forecast ev-w1388f1

| CONJ.member |
                                                                                                                                              at 1.8340 marks , up from 1.8300 marks late Friday , and at 141.90 yen , up from 141.65 yen late Friday .
                  New York trading yesterday , the dollar was quoted ev-w2473f1
  Sterling was quoted at $ 1.5820 , up from $ 1.5795 late Friday .
                                                   against the Swiss and French francs
(APP)
```

