```
Document 1655
      The lucky ones gaze out at life with serene eyes and smile with a face of innocence at their perfumed happiness .
                                  ACT-arg
                                 CONJ.member
                                                                                                                                                               (RSTR) (CONJ.member)
                                                                                                                                                                        CONJ.member
                                                                                                                                                            , novels , short story collections and poetry
                     ACT-arg
       Here is an ev-w218f7_u_nobody _ [21655015]
      Will you pour me a drop of water , if you do n't mind ? "

— ev-w2348f2 — — — — — ev-w1986f1 —
     " With pleasure .

- - - -
     [21655020]
                                                                                              re is not a single discordant word in the whole text .
"How interesting .
     [21655022]

(ap)

(EFF-arg)

" I think so .

— ev-w3363f1 — —
```

##