Document 0464

```
Profit-taking accounted for much of the slide in OTC stock prices , according to David Mills , senior vice president of Boston Company Advisers
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            verb_ARG1
                                                 (noun_ARG) (onj_ARG) (onj_
                                    (verb_ARG)
(werb_ARG)

      (up) (verb_ARG2) (verb_ARG1) (coord_ARG2) (verb_ARG2)
tet Afrep ARGI)

(det Afrep AR
```

