Document 1810

```
The frenetic stock and bond markets cooled off, but the dollar slumped ev-w704f1 _ _ _ _ ev-w3023f1
                       CNCS)—
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              , the Dow Jones Industrial Average gained 4.92 points to close at 2643.65 .
                                                                                                                               early yesterday morning as traders scrambled to buy Treasury issues on fears that the Northern California earthquake might ev-w2853f1 ev-w410f1
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               REG
                                                               stocks held steady , Treasury bonds later retreated ev-w1601f3 _ _ _ _ ev-w2729f1 _
                                                                n that the Federal Reserve will lower interest rates in coming weeks helped ev-w1581f1 v-w467_u_nobodyf1_u_nobody _ _ _ _ _ ev-w331f1 _ _ _ _ ev-w2833f1 _
                But many investors remain wary

ev-w2638f2
          [21810010]
          [21810011]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              , and this will be very unsettling for companies that have issued junk bonds .
       [21810012]

(ACT-urp)

(RESTR)

(RESTR)

(ACT-urp)

(RESTR)

(ACT-urp)

(RESTR)

(ACT-urp)

(PAT-urp)

(PAT-ur
"Things are beginning to settle down .

"Exercise of the control o
```

